HELEN HELP US!
by Helen Bottel

My Words Come Back to Haunt Me, Signed "Anonymous"
Dear Helen: So many of us say we don't have time (for everything from housecleaning to Scout Work). Seems to me all the time we use to worry because we don't have time could be used to do whatever we do not have time for.

Here's a poem I read somewhere that says what I mean: "I'm worried, I'm hurried, my days are a maze, It's my housework, I can't get ahead of it. But if I were truthful I'm sure I should say, "It isn't the work, it's the dread of it!"

Really No That Busy
Dear Rnth: My sentiments exactly. Fact is, I composed that poem six years ago — and no less than a dozen people have sent it to me since, as "Something, author unknown, that you really SHOULD print in your column."

I have, I have... twice already But thanks, anyway. — H.

Why Oh Why Oh Why
Dear Helen: Tell me something. Why do women never go to the ladies room alone? Can't they powder their noses without company? Down at the office, you never see just ONE secretary going down the hall. It's a herd, or anyway a covey. Take the wives out for dinner and one little woman says to the others, "Shall we?" and they're off. Sometimes they don't even need words, they just rise in unison and wait away.

If MEN go anywhere in unison, it's to the bar. That makes sense. What's with gals a y-way? — Can't Understand 'em
Dear c. u. a.; maybe we go along to hear the powder room gossip — or be sure we aren't the subject of it.

Or perhaps it's because (unlike men) women are natural born "flockers." We never go singly where we can go together, and that includes shopping trips, luncheons, even the library or a walk in the park, as well as Power Rooms. — H.

Dear Helen: Children aren't what they used to be? Of course not: PARENTS aren't what they used to be. We're a lazy generation. It is much easier to sit there in my little ol' rocking chair and read the paper than get up and get the book my little one is pestering me to read from. It is easier to sit out on the chaise lounge and scream, "Shut Up!" to the two older children, than get up and find out quietly and pleasantly what is wrong. It is simpler to let the

Here's How a Manager's Thoughts Run

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
So you want to be a manager...

Try and figure it the way Bobby Bragan of Atlanta did in his Braves' 8-2 loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday night.

Here's the way Bragan manipulated the club:

In the second inning when the Dodgers erupted for five runs, Bragan not only changed pitchers, sending in Clay Carroll for Wade Blasingame, he also took out first-string first baseman Lee Thomas and sent outfielder Marty Keough in as Thomas' substitute.

Why? In the fifth inning, Bragan, now trailing 8-1, decided to lift first-string catcher Joe Torre, and sent outfielder Rico Carty behind the plate for the first time in his major league career.

Why? In the sixth inning, after using Carroll, Arnold Umback and Chi Chi Olivo in relief, Bragan called for his No. 1 relief specialist, Billy O'Dell, with the game completely out of sight.

Just think along with Bragan: "I took out Torre because he couldn't see," said Bragan. "He's been bothered by a sinus infection. He struck out the first time and said, 'Let me give it one more try.' When he struck out again, I took him out."

"I used O'Dell because he has to pitch. He's only worked nine innings in 15 games. It was a choice between him and Phil Niekro, who throws a knuckler, so I went to O'Dell because it was Carty's first league game as a catcher."

And Keough for Thomas? By putting Keough in the lineup at the same time as Carroll, Bragan was able to juggle his batting order, getting Keough into the pitcher's spot. That enabled Keough to lead off the third inning instead of Carroll, who batted in Thomas' spot.

Meanwhile, Juan Marichal posted his fourth victory for San Francisco with a four-hit, 3-0 victory over Cincinnati. Pittsburgh outslugged the Chicago Cubs 9-6 in 10 innings and Houston defeated St. Louis 4-2. The New York Mets and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

In the American League, Detroit crushed Kansas City 13-5 and Cleveland edged California 2-1.

Don Drysdale got the victory for the Dodgers — his first after two losses — and more important went nine innings for the first time this season. Drysdale allowed six hits, including a homer and double by Hank Aaron, struck out 10 and did not walk a man.

Marichal, posting his fourth straight complete game victory, retired the first 16 men he faced before Leo Cardenas singled with one out in the sixth. Jim Hart singled twice and scored the first two runs for the Giants off Sammy Ellis before Jim Davenport wrapped it up with a homer.

Bill Mazeroski, who earlier had hit a homer and double, got the Pirates started in a four-run 10th with his second double, and scored the lead run on Bob Bailey's single. Manny Mota's double. Roberto Clemente's ground-er and Mota's steal of home on the front end of a double steal accounted for the other runs.

The Astros struck for three runs in the second inning on Jim Gentile's homer and two-run double by John Bateman. That was enough. The Cardinals drew within one run on homers by Julian Javier and Charlie Smith off Robin Roberts but Hal Woodeshick cut off the comeback.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Larry Mowry, a California home pro, surprised the regular touring golf pros with a five-under-par 65 and a tie for the lead in the first round of the $80,000 Texas Open.

Mowry, pro at the Whispering Palms Country Club at Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., used a hot putter in tying veteran Gene Littler in Houston. Was one stroke off Thursday.

Fine weather and a lush course made for low scores as eight pros shot 67s and more

Celtics Sew Up Their 8th World Title

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics took pride in a tight defense today while reigning as National Basketball Association champions for an unprecedented eighth straight year.

"That was really the great way to do it," said Coach Red Auerbach as he moved into full-time duty as general manager after 20 years on the bench.

The Celtics gave Auerbach a title salute by edging the Los Angeles Lakers 95-93 with one of NBA history Thursday night in the decisive showdown of a best-of-7 series.

Cheered on by a sell-out crowd of 13,909, the legal capacity at Boston Garden, the Celtics built a 76-60 third period lead and held on as the Lakers rallied vainly in the final 90 seconds for eight straight points.

"We put up a good fight, but moral victories are no good," said Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus, whose Lakers have failed to defeat the Celtics in five championship series.

Capt. Bill Russell, who has led Boston to nine NBA titles in 10 years, moved up to the rank of playing-coach in a blaze of glory.

The 6-foot-10 Russell, the first Negro to become coach of a major league club in any sport, scored 25 points and grabbed 32 rebounds. He also blocked several shots and triggered Boston's last break attack.

The Celtics stormed to a 10-0 lead before LeRoy Ellis put Los Angeles on the scoreboard. Boston moved out to a 27-20 first period lead and widened the margin to 53-38 at halftime as the Lakers' top scorers, Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, were held to a total of three field goals.

Boston boosted its advantage to 19 points, 59-40, early in the third period before West and Baylor began finding the range.

Graustark Is Beaten, Derby Now Gamble

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Now that Graustark has lost his aura of invincibility, a big field is in prospect for next week's Kentucky Derby, America's most glamorous horse race.

The star 3-year-old colt from Darby Dan Farm was beaten for the first time in his career in the Blue Grass Stakes a Keeneland Thursday. He lost by a nose to Abe's Hope after once holding a six-length lead in the 1-mile race.

Graustark, the early Derby favorite, was "blowing at the end of the race," trainer Lloyd Gentry said. "He was a tired horse. But, after all, this is the first time he's gone over a distance of ground. It's no disgrace to get beat by Abe's Hope."

In any event, the defeat of Graustark has revived the hopes of other Derby hopefuls and emphasized the views expressed by Barry J. Richards when he decided to enter his California Derby winner, Tragnew, in the Kentucky classic at Churchill Downs.

Richards said on Wednesday that Graustark was overrated. "I have carefully examined the charts of each one of Graustark's races. He has beaten nothing. In my opinion we will beat Graustark in the Kentucky Derby."

Fleet Shoe, the favorite who finished fifth in the California Derby, is expected to start in the Stepping Stone Purse at the opening of Churchill Downs Saturday. The Stepping Stone is regarded as a prep for the Derby and highlights the national program this weekend.

Other Derby hopefuls who may go in the Stepping Stone are Buffle, Beau Sub and Blue Skyer.

Korea's poetic name is "Land of the Morning Calm."

HITTING THE DIRT — It was not for the bats. Don Oliva of the Minnesota Twins (left) and Lenny Green of the Boston Red Sox might look like they're sliding comfortably into home plate. Actually, they're biting the dust from pitches which buzzed by their heads.

THE TWO Rs—The Robinson troupe has a hit show going in Baltimore, where the Orioles have flown off to a good start on the strong slugging of Brooks Robinson, left, and Frank Robinson in the batting order. Frank bats third, with Brooks at cleanup.

Cleveland's Win Streak Now Is at 10

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Cleveland's winning streak is getting longer — and so is Birdie Tebbetts' hair.

The dapper manager's hair crept a bit further down his neck Thursday night as the Indians tied the major league record for consecutive victories at the start of the season with their 10th straight, a 2-1 decision over California.

Tebbetts says he's not superstitious. But just the same he's not changing any routine, at least not while his club is winning. He knows what happened to Samson when his locks were clipped, so the Cleveland skipper is steering clear of barber shops.

In the only other American League game played Thursday, Detroit hammered four home runs and raked Kansas City 13-5. Rain and cold weather postponed the other scheduled games.

In the National League, San Francisco blanked Cincinnati 3-0, Pittsburgh dined Chicago 9-6 in 10 innings, Houston whipped St. Louis 4-2 and Los Angeles battered Atlanta 8-2.

The Indians' 10th victory tied the mark set by the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers and matched by the 1962 Pittsburgh Pirates. It also broke the American League record of nine set by the 1944 St. Louis Browns.

Leon Wagner's sacrifice fly brought the winning run home in the eighth inning with some daring base running by Pedro Gonzalez setting it up.

Gonzalez had singled with one out and when Dick Howser beat out an infield hit, Gonzalez raced all the way to third, taking off as Jim Fregosi threw to first. Then Wagner's fly ball brought him home.

Rick Reichardt had tied the game in the top of the eighth with a home run — the first run off the Cleveland pitching staff in 29 innings.

Don Wert walloped a grand slam homer and Jerry Lumpe added a three-run shot as Detroit erupted for seven runs in the fifth inning against the Athletics.

Al Kaline also had a three-run homer and Jim Northrup connected with one man on for the Tigers.

Only Indian tribes in North America known to have hunted with blowguns are the Cherokee, Iroquois and Muscogean.

Canadiens Edge the Red Wings

By BERNIE KENNEDY

Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Toe Blake smiled a bit and Sid Abel frowned.

Both admitted the third game of the Stanley Cup finals was a big one.

Obviously Blake was the winning coach. He saw his Montreal Canadiens spot the Detroit Red Wings an early first period goal and then charge back to win 4-2.

The Montreal triumph cut Detroit's lead in the best-of-7 series to 2-1.

"If we had lost this one we would have been down three games and in a real tough spot. But now we are on the upsurge," Blake said.

Norm Ullman scored the Red Wings' first goal before the game had gone five minutes and Gordie Howe got the last one with a second to go in the contest.

Abel actually was more concerned with the condition of defenseman Bert Marshall than with the loss of the game.

Marshall was slammed into the boards in the second period. "The doctor says he has a shoulder injury but it should be okay by Sunday," Abel said.

Razorbacks Concentrate on Passing

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Tommy Dixon, who was switched from wingback to defensive halfback this week, took an interception 45 yards for a touchdown Wednesday as the Arkansas Razorbacks concentrated on passing.

Two other passes were picked off during the spring practice session scrimmage, but Dixon's return was the highlight.

Bruce Maxwell drove two yards for another touchdown. "We tried to have a passing scrimmage and the defense did a lot better," Coach Frank Broyles said.

He said David Cooper, a full-back until he was put back at linebacker this week, did well during the scrimmage.

Broyles said he heard that Ernie Richardson, No. 2 offensive guard last year, had dropped out of school, but he couldn't confirm the report. He said Richardson took an Army physical last week at his hometown of Poplar Bluff, Mo.

THE FAMILY LOOK—The MacPhail lineage stands out on the strong face of this Dickinson College lacrosse captain. He's Allen MacPhail, whose father, Lee, is assistant to the baseball commissioner. His grandfather, Larry, was once president of the New York Yankees.

Individual Rights May Win Out

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. John P. Humphrey, "Mr. Human Rights" at the United Nations for almost 20 years, believes man is winning his battle to maintain his individual rights in a society growing more complex every day.

At 61 Humphrey in no time a director of the U.N. Division of Human Rights to return to the law faculty of McGill University in Montreal. He had been named dean of students there just before he took his new U.N. assignment in 1946. He is a native of Hampton, N.B.

He is not retiring from work in the field of human rights. He has been elected to membership on the Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities—a subsidiary group of the U.N. Human Rights Commission. He will attend meetings of the sub-commission in January as one of its 18 experts.

In December 1948, the U.N. General Assembly adopted the universal declaration of human rights — the culmination of two groups of effort of the Human Rights Commission under the chairmanship of Eleanor Roosevelt.

Changing Times

Atlanta doesn't woo the Braves' players like Milwaukee once did — with bratwurst and sauerkraut — but one jeweler does offer a watch for every homer hit. And Henry Aaron was promised a house and a job if he moved his family there. But Hank has kept his Milwaukee roots. "I just want my kids to get the best education, and I think I can do that in Milwaukee."

Man asked Australian golfer Kel Nagle who his playing partners were for a practice round before a tournament. "Oh," answered Kel. "I went out with Peter Allis (England), Bob Charles (New Zealand) and, you know, that foreign chap—Tony Lema."

Bob Bailey no longer hears the onus of the biggest bonus. His $175,000 from the Pirates was topped by the 200 grand given Rick Reichardt of the California Angels. But Bob doesn't regret a dollar of it. "I think it kept me in the majors," he said. "People stayed longer with me than they would have if I hadn't gotten any money at all."

Speaking of bonuses, we hear inside scoop that the $600,000 supposedly heaped on Donny Anderson by the Green Bay Packers isn't the biggest of all time. That honor might go to Frank Emanuel, the linebacker signed by the Miami Dolphins.

At the age of 43, Rodger Ward was figured washed up on the racing circuit — he didn't even qualify last year for the Indianapolis 500 — but the two-time Indy winner looks as though he'll make a big comeback with his newly designed (by Dale Drake) rear-engine Offenhauser under the sponsorship of John Mecom.

You wouldn't say Don Sutton, the rookie pitcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers, doesn't have a prayer of a chance when he takes the mound. Young Sutton spends his mornings as a serious student of the Bible.

Another pitching phenom, Ken Holtzman, throws according to the book. He skips all road trips to attend class at the University of Chicago but joins the Cubs on weekends. His biggest thrill was not facing and beating the Dodgers, but getting to shake the hand of Sandy Koufax.

Atlanta and the Chicago Bears are playing cat and mouse on the Larry Morris situation. The veteran linebacker, who bases in Atlanta, came back last year on the promise he would be dealt to the Falcons. But so far neither side is making a move — owner Rankin Smith of the Falcons won't approach George Halas because Papa Bear might ask too much, and Halas is staying mum, too.

Ron Fairly, the outfielder and player representative of the Los Angeles Dodgers, was bemoaning the encroachment of other sports — principally pro football — on the baseball season. "It's ridiculous," said Fairly. "Wait'll he sees the NFL exhibition (Pete Rozelle calls it preseason) which calls for an Aug. 1 opener between Atlanta and Philadelphia."

Jack Kemp, the quarterback of the Buffalo Bills, just blew in from the slopes. Had the biggest skiing winter of his life, with trips to Aspen, Colo., and Mammoth, Calif. He's such a bug on slats that he used to go skiing during the football season. The Bills made him cut it out in 1963.

Between you'n' me, the question most asked of Kemp during speaking engagements concerns his reaction to the big bonus money paid to rookies (Jack got a big fat zero when he came out of Occidental). He answers them truthfully, "I'm jealous and envious. But I understand they're the product of a bizarre situation."

SCIATICA — By Dr. Charles Johnson

Sciatica literally means a condition of disturbance to the sciatic nerve. Slight pressure of the lower spinal nerve roots produces irritation. Pain may be confined to the back and buttocks or may radiate to the toes on the affected side. Pain is subjected to marked variations; at times dull and aching, at other times severe and lancinating. The lumbar muscles are contracted causing pelvic tilt. Pain may be induced by movements that place strain upon affected nerve and muscle tissues. Adjustments are very effective to correct irritation and pressure upon the affected tissues.

Anti-Missile Depot of Reds Are Mystery

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials said today the Russians started to build antimissile facilities some time ago but stopped, apparently because they ran into difficulties.

This was the firmest information yet provided that the Soviet Union actually had begun, at least at one stage, to emplace a system designed to try to knock down U.S. Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles.

The officials were vague as to the present stage of the Soviet antimissile program. They said they do not know whether the Soviets are deploying an antimissile system.

This disclaimer was taken with some skepticism. The United States makes it its business to keep a close check on such developments inside the Soviet Union, in part through the use of reconnaissance satellites.

Reports of antimissile sites being erected around Leningrad and Moscow date back to 1963 but there has never been any official confirmation.

The Soviets have made claims that they have the ability to knock down U.S. missiles and American authorities have not challenged this.

However, the officials who spoke of the start which the Soviets made on constructing antimissile facilities stressed that — regardless of what kind of a system the Soviets might install — the U.S. missile force can penetrate any defense system and destroy the Soviet Union, if necessary.

It was noted that the United States has put great effort in development of what are called penetration aids.

These are devices of various sorts designed to enable U.S. missiles to evade or fool Communist antimissile batteries.

Among other things, these aids include a variety of decoy devices, maneuverable missile warheads and multiple warheads.

Bartenders Help Reform Alcoholics

By WHITEY SAWYER

DETROIT (AP) — The men who pour the drinks are going to try to help the men who can't handle them.

John Marra, a business agent for Detroit Bartenders Union Local 562, was elected Tuesday to the Sobriety House board of directors.

"I'm a drinking man," Marra said. "We're not drunks. We want to help these people who for one reason or another can't handle liquor. I expect a lot of people in our industry will want to help."

Sobriety House is a non-denominational facility to provide a home-like haven for the homeless alcoholic, who has lost money, friends, food, shelter, and often cannot support himself. The alcoholics who seek shelter are fed, given a clean bed and respectable, donated clothing. Medical treatment is arranged if needed, and they are encouraged to join Alcoholics Anonymous.

The facility has accommodations for 15 men.

A spokesman for the two-year-old home said "about 400 men have been helped. We know that 200 of them have not had a drink since, have gone back to their homes and families, and returned to work."

The facility is supported by donations and fund-raising activities.

The union agent, who spent years as a bartender, said, "Bartenders are sympathetic. They are among the first to recognize the symptoms of the alcoholic."

"Bartenders have seen top executives — and other bartenders, for that matter — drink themselves out of jobs. Drinking can be fun and offers relaxation if it is handled right. However, alcoholics can't handle even a single drink. They often need help and we want to help them," Marra said.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's lackluster year has produced a lackluster list of nominations for Emmy Awards. These are supposed to be the industry's highest honors since they are sponsored by its own organization, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Naturally, most of the year's high moments were reflected in released Tuesday — "Color Me Barbra," "The Julie Andrews Show" and the coverage of the Pope's visit to New York.

For the most part, the programs seemed to have been nominated almost perfunctorily, with a Nielsen national rating report in one hand and a pencil in another. "Batman" won a nomination in the comedy category. "Bonanza," after eight unchanging years of horse opera, is in the running for "outstanding dramatic series."

Barbara Parkins, who did her best suffering two years ago in "Peyton Place" is up for a best actress citation — against Barbara Stanwyck who plays the matriarch in a Western and Anne Francis who played a lady private eye and karate expert in a series that didn't make the grade.

It probably doesn't make much difference to the viewers who will be watching the Emmy Awards show on CBS May 22 when the winners — elected by anonymous blue ribbon panels — will be announced.

If the program — coming live from New York and Hollywood — moves fast enough, if there are enough stars in interesting clothes in the audience and on stage, it won't make much difference to them who wins the statuette. It is just another show. But it does seem that there ought to be some way to weed out the routine, production-line shows from the list, no matter how popular they are. As things are now, the award just doesn't seem to stand for anything very important.

Most interesting program Tuesday had to be the "Today Show's" two-hour concentration on the John Birch Society. Highlight of the morning program was film shot at a Birch Society meeting last week, with members explaining their motivations in joining the organization.

The program became explosive, however, when two members of the society, both public relations men, were debating with two members of the B'nai B'rith's Anti-Defamation League. It would have been even more interesting if it had been intelligible.

Tempers rose, accusations were hurled, questions shouted, and everybody talked at the same time. Not much light was shed but plenty of heat was generated.

Publishers May Resort to Courts

NEW YORK (AP) — An official of the striking Newspaper Guild reports "no progress" in peace talks with representatives of the merged but still unpublished World Journal Tribune Inc.

The new corporation went to federal court Tuesday to seek enforced arbitration of merge problems with six craft unions. Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the AFL-CIO Newspaper Guild of New York, said as talks recessed Tuesday night "we made no progress of anything. In fact I think we are further behind than we were on Nov. 2, 1962."

That date marked the beginning of a 114-day newspaper hiccup, the longest in the city's history.

Federal mediator Frank H. Brown kept the publishers and guild together all day Tuesday, negotiating on the question of seniority in discharging employees from the editorial, business and maintenance departments.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Which state in the Union observes Jan. 30, the birthday of Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a legal holiday?
A—Kentucky. It is also a legal holiday in the Virgin Islands.

Q—Who was called the "Apostle of the Indians"?
A—John Eliot, an American colonial missionary. He is credited with having written an Indian translation of the Bible and an Indian grammar.

Q—What are the holes for along the edge of an abalone shell?
A—The escape of water discharged by the gills, so that the animal can breathe while holding closely to the surface of a rock.

Q—Do crabs eat while in "soft-shell" condition?
A—No. After shedding, and before a new shell has hardened, even the mouth parts are soft and incapable of handling food.

It is remarkable to note how often a bridge player will think like the man unable to see the forest because he is entirely surrounded by trees.

East cashed two clubs while South followed suit. Out came a third club and South had a problem.

He pulled out the nine of trumps, thought awhile and pushed it back. As he figured matters, West would overruff if he held the ten and the odds favored West holding that card. Then South thought a little more and finally ruffed with a high trump.

He continued by leading out trumps. East showed out on the second lead, whereupon South showed his hand and conceded a heart and a trump for down one.

South also stated that he had given the hand the best play when he ruffed high and that trumps never broke for him.

South was right about the fact that trumps had broken badly. He could not have been more wrong when he claimed to have made the best play.

There was no way for South to avoid losing a trick with his seven of hearts but he had the privilege of losing that trick at the right time and the right time to lose it was when East led that third club.

Had he discarded the seven instead of ruffing, he would have had no further problems. If East led anything except another club, South would win, draw trumps and claim the balance. If East led a fourth club, South would ruff in dummy with which-ever card he had to play, draw trumps and claim.

Man Blind and Deaf, But He Asks No Quarter From World of Normal People

By GAYLORD SHAW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Earl I. Brawner's world is dark and deaf. But the hard-working 27-year-old Brawner wants no sympathy. He is blind and deaf. In fact, it irritates him.

"Sympathy is not wanted and should not be wanted by any deaf, blind person," Brawner says. "I just want to be considered a human being like anyone else."

He holds a full-time job as an $80-a-week Braille assistant in the Library of Congress' Division for the Blind.

He writes short stories, war essays, romances—"Easy to read stuff."

He puffs occasionally on a big cigar.

He enjoys physical exercise, particularly wrestling.

When the broad-shouldered Brawner sits at work in the library's crowded annex, it takes more than a casual glance to realize he can neither see nor hear.

He dresses in a white shirt and dark slacks. His tie is neatly knotted, his shoes shined, his hair close-cropped.

His movements are quick and sure as he grades and corrects correspondence work done in Braille by sighted volunteers studying to become teachers of the blind.

He is a competent typist, sometimes preparing title pages nor Braille books being sent to regional libraries for lending to the blind.

He has learned to operate a machine that duplicates a page of Braille.

For an interview, another blind library employee translated questions into manual alphabet, spelling out words in Brawner's palm. Brawner answered in a halting, but easily understood monotone.

He said he lost his sight and hearing in 1950, at the age of 11, when stricken by spinal meningitis. After a year in a hospital, he started the long period of training and adjustment. In 1964 he graduated from high school. In July 1965 he went to work for the library.

A bachelor, he lives with his parents, three brothers and a sister. He rides to work in a taxi. At the library, he isn't bothered with the sympathy he says he doesn't want.

Praise for Kiwanis
Editor The Star: I think that your Editorial "Kiwanis Minstrel a Monument to Public Service" was tremendous. Your recognition of the energy and unselfishness of this dedicated service club couldn't have been more appropriate. I know how hard the club works and practices for this annual affair and I know the sacrifices that each member makes in order to make this minstrel the success that it's always been.

Your mention of the many public services provided from proceeds from the minstrel brought to my attention, of course, the Parks and Recreation Program. Not only has the Kiwanis Club provided funds for a great number of physical facilities, but the Kiwanians were, perhaps, the greatest contributing factor toward encouraging the city government to create our present Parks and Recreation Department.

Since the initial building project on K-Park began, in 1953, over 40,000 kids have participated in the Baseball program on that field alone. It may sound unbelievable, but from our records, 291,000 spectators have attended activities at K-Park. Also, 600 boys and 12,000 spectators have participated in the Football Program, 450 in the Basketball Program, 350 in the Golden Age Program and gosh knows how many in other programs, unrelated to my Department, that the Kiwanians have supported.

Whoever dreamed up this home talent show 23 years ago, that the local Kiwanis Club has made successful for all 23 years will undoubtedly leave an everlasting tribute to this Community's youth.

Sincerely,
CHARLES GOUGH, Supt.

Russia Pulls Exhibit Out of Indonesia

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Soviet Cultural Center in Jakarta closed its doors today in the face of student pressure protesting a Lenin exhibit.

Armed students who had been blockading the two-story building since Tuesday were withdrawn. About 30 youths from Kani, the university students' action front, had surrounded the building to keep Indonesians from seeing the exhibit honoring Lenin, the father of Soviet communism.

The government withdrew troops who had been sent to guard the building after pirate students had threatened to attack the center.

A student delegation told Soviet officials at the center Monday that movies and displays on Lenin must be stopped within 12 hours or they would attack the center. Students said they had no objection to the center holding technological or scientific displays, but they would not permit displays on communism.

The director of the center refused to yield to the student ultimatum. The next day the youths said they would respect the diplomatic immunity of the center and blockade it rather than sack the place.

The closing of the center was agreed on after long talks between Soviet officials and representatives of the student's front. The student action appeared to be a manifestation of the general anti-communism that has been rampant since the attempted Communist coup last October rather than a demonstration of anti-Soviet feeling.

In another demonstration of anti-Communist feeling, Indonesians of Chinese descent seized the Red Chinese consulate in Surabaya, East Java's chief port, the official Antara news agency reported. Indonesian Chinese sacked the Red Chinese Embassy in Jakarta April 15, and student sources said university students may take over the embassy and make it their headquarters. They already have occupied the Chinese consulate here which had been deserted since a student mob sacked it some weeks ago.

U.S. Income Is Highest in History

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — How do you measure the affluence of the affluent American people? Today's society got its title of affluent partly because total personal incomes have risen to a record high but also because total consumer spending has risen just as fast.

Income is commonly used as the measure of affluence and spending as the manifestation of it. But there are other factors in a definitive summing up of the economic status of Americans as individuals or as a group.

The Securities and Exchange Commission has totted up all the latest available figures. It reports that personal assets have risen to a record high along with personal incomes — but that personal indebtedness also has hit new highs.

Fortunately, the financial assets of individuals top their debts by a sizable margin. This puts an apparent still solid base under the affluence which the income and spending figures portray.

The SEC puts personal financial saving at a record $34 billion. But there are other forms that assets take.

For example, private insurance and pension reserves rose $13 billion in the year to a total of $208.7 billion. Federal government insurance and pension reserves went up by $5 billion to $61.8 billion. And funds put in private noninsured pension programs rose $5.6 billion to a total of $70.9 billion — compared with the $2 billion rise in insured pension reserves to $27.2 billion.

While individuals were getting wealthier, judged by these measures of savings and assets, they were also piling on debts.

Paris Bastille was destroyed by the revolutionists on July 14, 1793.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Detection, Destruction Is Best Cancer Attack

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What causes lymph node sarcoma? Can it be cured? Is it true that a German scientist has found a drug that will cure it? How long can a person live with a malignancy of the voice box? Is cancer ever caused by a blackhead?

A—Sarcoma is a highly malignant form of cancer. The cause of all cancers is still a mystery although there is some evidence that some forms are caused by a virus. Scientists are constantly finding new treatments for cancer but, although many drugs have been helpful, none that is a sure cure has yet been found. The best treatment is still early detection and complete destruction of the tumor cells by surgical removal, irradiation or both.

With most malignancies, including those of the voice box, the victim will die in less than five years if the disease is not treated. That is why the so-called five-year cures are regarded with optimism. A blackhead will not become cancerous, but a cancer could start in the vicinity of one purely by chance. On the other hand, if the skin lesion is not a blackhead but a small pigmented brown or blue mole, it may undergo malignant change, especially if it is subjected to repeated trauma.

Q—Should a woman who is over 65 take the Pap test? Or a woman who has had a uterine fibroid removed?

A—All women who are over 40 should have a Pap smear taken once or twice a year.

Q—A man I know had a tumor removed. The surgeon said the tumor was cancerous but not malignant. Can this be true?

A—Ordinarily not but what the surgeon probably said was that the tumor was precancerous, meaning that it was potentially cancerous. Some tumors of the face are classified as cancers but are not very malignant.

Q—I have had my uterus removed because of cancer. My doctor now says I have metastatic carcinoma. What does that mean and what is the treatment?

A—Your cancer has metastasized or spread to other parts of the body. X ray radium and some of the newer drugs such as thiotepa and chlorambucil will make you more comfortable and prolong your life.

$7 Passport Rail Merger Significant

We have passed for publication a series of coupons issued by the U. S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, which offers a bargain to the vacationing public.

The coupons promote what the department calls "Operation Golden Eagle." You fill in your name and address and mail the coupon with $7 to Washington, D. C., and you get back a certificate and a windshield sticker guaranteed to waive all the usual fees when you visit national parks and other federal recreational areas.

It's a bargain, as anyone knows who has passed the tollgates of more than one national park. Some citizens will gripe, of course, claiming that with the taxes they are paying nowadays all the recreational facilities should be free — but such gripes don't square with justice for all classes of taxpayers.

Not everyone is in a position to take a long-distance vacation, and some wouldn't be so inclined if they could do so. The unluckies of the outdoors have an obligation to help support recreational facilities — but they shouldn't have to pay the entire bill.

And $7 for the package deal on federal fees is only a microscopic part of your vacation cost.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has given the green light on plans to consolidate the New York Central and Pennsylvania as America's largest railroad system.

It is a timely and significant decision. Our railroads were put together in haphazard fashion, merely linking the various cities without regard to a unified national transport plan — because in the early days rail transport was a matter of economic life or death for towns and their immediate trade areas.

But today the railroads have tremendous competition from highways, airlines, and water transport. Railroads are not as important to local areas as they once were — so it is time to be thinking in terms of coast-to-coast rail networks. And mergers to eliminate costly duplication and provide better and cheaper freight service are the order of the day.

"You Sure That Weapon's Reliable?"

New Civil Rights Bill Faces Fight

By JOSEPH E. MOHABAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hard congressional fight loomed today over the Johnson administration's proposed 1966 Civil Rights Act which includes a controversial fair housing proposal and new weapons against racial terrorism.

"I think we'll get it through, but it will be a tight squeeze," predicted Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee which will begin hearings on the bill next Wednesday.

A number of observers — including Celler — feel the bill has one strike against it already — timing.

"They held it up too long," Celler said. "And that's why it's going to be close."

President Johnson finally sent his latest civil rights package to Capitol Hill Thursday, more than a month after the bill was reported ready.

The death of Celler's wife, the Easter recess, and a complex Supreme Court decision — virtually inviting legislation against Ku Klux Klan-type violence — contributed to the delay.

Some sources said the late arrival of the bill could enhance the chances for success of a Southern filibuster this summer — timed to begin just as the election-minded Congress began looking for an early adjournment.

The bill covers a vast range — from housing, North and South, to state and federal jurisdiction, from the problems of Negro school children to those posed by persons Johnson termed "racial fanatics."

It would provide stiff penalties for racial terrorism and violence, making such acts federal crimes; would ban discrimination in all housing sales, rentals and financing; would forbid discrimination by race or sex in jury selection and would authorize federal officials to take over local jury selection where discrimination exists.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, pledged to fight the bill. He said it would not be enforced in the North as it would be in the South.

"It is not legislation aimed at desegregation but rather an attempt at forced, massive integration of our schools, hospitals and other facilities without regard to individual rights," Eastland said.

Other congressional reaction showed a notable lack of enthusiasm for the fair housing law.

Jack Justice of Miami Beach, Fla., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said such a law would create new tensions and civil stress throughout the nation.

State Gets Praise for New Vaccine

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A member of President Johnson's cabinet praised Arkansas Wednesday night for its role in the development of what is described as the first effective experimental vaccine against German measles.

The virus disease has been linked with about 30,000 birth defects in this country in the 1963-65 period.

John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, discussed the development here shortly after two scientists announced it at the annual meeting of the American Pediatric Society in Atlantic City, N. J.

Test were conducted at the Arkansas Children's Colony in Conway, and one of the scientists, Dr. Harry M. Meyer Jr., is a native of Conway and a graduate of the University of Arkansas School of Medicine.

Both he and Dr. Paul D. Parkman are with the Division of Biologics Standards of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md.

Surgeon General William H. Stewart emphasized that the vaccine is still in the test stage.

But Stewart added: "The discovery makes it possible to predict that Rubella German measles and its associated birth defects can be brought under control in the not too distant future."

Thirty-four girl students at the Children's Colony, given the vaccine over a four-month period, "developed immunity with no accompanying fever or rash," the scientists said.

Meyer and Parkman said the major hazard of German measles lies in the danger of transmission to the fetus during pregnancy.

The National Institutes of Health estimated that during the nationwide German measles epidemics of 1963, 1964 and 1965, some 30,000 babies were born with defects such as blindness, deafness, congenital heart disease and brain damage. Another 20,000 fetal deaths occurred, it said.

He Had No English, But Pinch Did It

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A pinch she felt as she moved up the airliner's aisle made stewardess Chris Pipkin spin around.

Francisco Escobar, 17, indicated he was the culprit. "I found him pointing at my seat belt," said the blonde Miss Pipkin. "He wanted it fastened."

The boy was one of six Spanish-speaking U.S. citizens who arrived Thursday. They were the first to be repatriated from Cuba in a program the State Department has worked out with the Fidel Castro government.

Only one of them spoke English, about 600 other Latinos with American citizenship are expected to follow apparently on the regular, twice-daily flights that have brought 18,500 refugees out of Cuba since Dec. 1.

Escobar, born in New York, has lived 51 years in Cuba. Asked whether he was glad to leave Cuba, he said, "I suppose so."

Ernesto Ercilla, 12, has lived in Cuba since infancy although born in Brooklyn. "Queen sabe?" — who knows? — he said when asked if he plans to learn English.

Bill Arnold Presides at Oil Institute

HOT SPRINGS — Bill Arnold, Texarkana attorney and candidate for circuit judge in the Eighth Circuit, presided over the opening session of the Fifth Arkansas Oil & Gas Institute here Thursday. The institute continues through Friday.

Today's speakers were: Robert Roberts, attorney of Spreveport; George W. Morrow of Tulsa, Skelly Oil Co. attorney; Oscar Algood, Little Rock TV newscaster; James V. Templeton, president of Templeton Oil Co., Shreveport; and Robert R. Wright, acting dean of the University of Arkansas Law School, Little Rock.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The lack of dissolved oxygen in the Delaware River has blocked this year's run of shad, according to the Delaware River Basin Commission.

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A violent gust ripped the roof off a building at the Perry Lumber Co., but the company vice president, Lawrence F. Pierson, wasn't bothered.

"We looked on it as just an early start on urban renewal," Pierson said.

Perry Lumber is in a zone marked for redevelopment.

Inside China Foreigner Is a Curiosity

By FRANK TUOHY

SHANGHAI (AP) — Frightening ignorance and prejudice about foreigners exist everywhere in China. It was one of the constant things I experienced on my first visit there.

Traditionally the Emperor of China believed that all foreigners had come to pay him tribute. In those days visitors were known as foreign devils; today they are called foreign friends.

Even today, when tourists from all Western countries except America are allowed in to the big cities, a foreigner is something of a surprise. Even the cars — nearly all cars are foreign, sometimes American or British, but mostly East European — provided by the tourist service attract crowds wherever they are parked. Mild but friendly stares of curiosity surround you until you soon become used to them. And children clap when they hear the words "foreign friends."

Whether friends or devils, foreigners still pose problems for the Chinese.

Referring to the unmentionable Russians, a Chinese lady told me, "We have lost our best friends." How, I wondered, can the welcome extended to foreign visitors be reconciled with the hate campaign which by now includes not only the U.S. imperialists but also the Khrushchev revisionists, the Castro revisionists, and other lackeys and flunkies too numerous to mention?

We were told that children learn to distinguish between the perhaps innocent foreigner and his wicked governmental system. But how can they know that the foreigner is innocent if they are kept ignorant of his world, his history and culture?

I visited a university English class where students, though drilled to pronounce such tongue twisters as "Bureaucracy, imperialism, revisionism," were taught nothing about America or Britain, except that Negroes are whipped for smoking in the street, and that British children are still crowding into Oliver Twist's workhouse. There were libraries of British and American books on the campus but the last date of withdrawal in the mass of the books I leafed through was 1948.

Inside the schools and in the streets, posters still show Negroes, Westerners and Chinese, striding arm in arm toward a proletarian future. But word has gone round the new countries, a foreign diplomat told me, of the difficult life for embassy officials in Peking. African diplomats unlucky enough to be posted to China find themselves exiled for years and years, since no one at home wants to replace them. In Peking's only bar, on the sixth floor of the Hsin Chiao Hotel, Japanese, German and British businessmen play billiards. Peking evenings offer them nothing else.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to broaden the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's power to fight racial discrimination in private employment.

Under the bill approved 299 to 94 and sent to the Senate, the year-old commission could issue orders requiring employers and labor unions to halt discriminatory practices. Now the commission is limited to persuasion.

The legislation also would bring thousands more companies under the commission's jurisdiction by covering all those with eight or more employees. This extension would not take effect until July 2, 1967.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says he hopes the United States will soon "moderate our hostility and offer to China the hand of friendship."

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added that the American attitude "is prolonging the extremist phase of the Chinese revolution."

Any offer is almost certain to be rejected, Fulbright said in a lecture to the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies, but "honorary" friendship may weaken the Chinese image of a hostile America and lead to moderation of the Communist giant.

Survival Is First Rule of Life; Your Purpose in Living, Only Secondary

— Cobb Tells Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "Everybody lives a double life," remarked Lee J. Cobb, one of the great actors of his generation.

"You have to keep two sets of books in order to survive," Cobb believes that in one set of books a man chronicles life as he'd like it to be — in the other, life as it must be faced and lived.

To Lee, a compactly built man of 55 with thinning hair and probing, sensitive hazel eyes, the key words of living are "survival" and "purpose."

"You have to survive before you can carry out a purpose, no matter how worthy it may be," he said.

Neither a cynic nor a Pollyanna, Cobb has achieved a philosophy of realism after nearly 40 turbulent years in the seamy world of the theater.

This is the practical advice he gives to young idealists who come to him: "Don't die pure. Compromise if you have to. It is better to do that and realize 70 per cent of

Hair-Line Difference Is Seen Between 'Sanctuary' and 'Hot Pursuit' Words

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have drawn a distinction between a "no sanctuary" policy and the principle of "hot pursuit."

They said hot pursuit means chasing an enemy during a combat engagement — even across a frontier. But this does not include deliberate strike at an enemy base — the no sanctuary policy.

In explaining the distinction, U.S. officials cited the Korean war. Then U.S. planes flew across the Yalu River into Chinese air space during running engagements, they said, but the United States held to the sanctuary principle, barring attacks on the Chinese mainland.

But Red China will risk retaliations on her home territory if she intervenes in the Viet Nam conflict, officials said. They added however, that U.S. forces would counter attack across the Chinese border only after a careful decision high in the U.S. government.

The explanation on China's risk and high level decisions was given to about 700 of the nation's editors and broadcasters attending a two-day State Department briefing on foreign policy.

The semiannual conference ends today with scheduled appearances by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary George W. Ball and other high officials. Thursday's listed speakers included Vice Presi-

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three persons drowned today when tremendous rains flooded hundreds of persons from their homes in Dallas and a northern suburb, Garland.

Firemen axed through an auto's back window to free a woman from the car which had been swept into a swollen creek, but the man with her was trapped and drowned.

Robert Buck and his wife, Adrienne, of San Antonio, who moved to Texas recently from East Point, Ga., both drowned when their car was swept from a road into a creek.

At dawn, the downpour which had been falling at about an inch an hour subsided, and Mayor Eric Jonsson said "we think there are going to all the loss of life, but if there's more rain we'll have more trouble."

Fire department boats, carried by station wagons to scenes from local flooding plucked people from trees, rooftops, and the roofs of cars in flooded expressway underpasses.

Water got into the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant in northeast Dallas, forcing it to close until Friday, idling 1,500 workers.

The new round of turbulent weather came as rivers and lesser streams throughout the eastern half of Texas poured floodwaters toward the sea. Rains up to 21 inches had flooded wide areas, particularly to the east of Dallas.

what you aimed at, than to die pure without having got anything done."

The star of numerous stage plays and some 80 films, Lee will recreate the role of Willy Loman in Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" over the CBS television network Sunday evening, May 8.

Almost completely self-taught, Cobb believes an actor can be improved but not produced.

"There is no substitute for experience," he said. "An actor, like a pearl, is made by accretion, year after year."

"But chance is as important as anything else to an actor. You can't say that you will progress merely by keeping your nose to the grindstone. Talent is not necessarily either recognized or rewarded."

"In most fields after you put in a rough apprenticeship, you at least have your foot on a rung of the ladder. But in the theater you are still dependent on the roll of the dice — on luck. That's what's unfair about it, even if you're lucky, as I have been."

Woman in Flooded Car Is Rescued

The semiannual conference ends today with scheduled appearances by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary George W. Ball and other high officials. Thursday's listed speakers included Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Army Chief of Staff Gen. Harold K. Johnson and William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

Fears that America will be drawn into war with Communist China have been voiced by some in the wake of recent aerial dog-fights in North Viet Nam and the State Department's reaffirmation that there is no sanctuary for those entering the Viet Nam war.

The Pentagon Thursday identified advanced-thrust MIG jets in the air battles as North Vietnamese. However, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has raised the question of what might happen when "our planes will pursue hostile aircraft to wherever they go — even over the border of China."

Asked about Kennedy's views, U.S. officials said:

— There has been no recent change in the pattern of U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam.

— Washington has no evidence that Red Chinese planes have been involved in the air fights. The North Vietnamese have increased numbers of more advanced type MIGs and they have sent them into battle.

— If Red Chinese forces did intervene, the United States would not accept the concept of a sanctuary, or safe haven, for them. But any decision to take action would be made only after very careful consideration at a high governmental level.

U.S. officials are firm — "No crisis decisions will result from his trip. It will be a general, important review and perhaps some new policy decisions. But this is no crisis trip."

Lodge has been in Viet Nam since last August on his second tour here, taking over from Gen. Maxwell T. Taylor. In his absence, Deputy Chief of Mission William Porter — a veteran of French Algeria's chaos and agony — will be in charge.

The nine months have been filled with tension and crisis for Lodge, with hard decisions and tricky maneuvering between various factions struggling for power and influence in South Viet Nam.

But he likes to refer to himself as a retired politician, because of his career as a senator and Republican vice presidential nominee, and friends say this is an asset in a situation like the one here.

He has been trying to be as inconspicuous as possible, feeling that this is the best course of action for an American ambassador here. He has made several public speeches but prefers to avoid them. He believes it is up to the President and the secretary of state to announce U.S. policy.

Air Force to Pound Viet Nam Roads

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. air attacks on truck traffic moving down from Red China will be intensified as the weather improves in the upper part of North Viet Nam, sources said today.

Bad weather in that region is gradually shifting southward. In the past several weeks, U.S. fighter bombers have been raking truck traffic along routes connecting Hanoi with Red China.

This has been particularly true along routes leading northward from Hanoi, an area which was not subjected to armed reconnaissance before last winter's bombing pause, the sources said.

Officials also forecast a substantial increase in the amount of such efforts at night, not only in the region between Hanoi and Red China but lower down in North Viet Nam, along roads leading toward South Viet Nam.

Poor weather has hampered such strafing strikes and has prevented accurate estimates of damage inflicted on truck convoys.

The Communist trucks move mostly at night and when they are on the road during the day, are protected by camouflage.

U.S. sources said that, among other things, American pilots have found that the Reds have built trellises over certain stretches of highway and covered these structures with leaves and branches.

Lodge Heads Home; Parley Due on War

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The most embattled American ambassador in the world heads home Saturday for a major review of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Henry Cabot Lodge leaves behind his fortress-like embassy in steaming Saigon and the largest American military and civilian force in any foreign country.

He also leaves tough problems that include political turmoil in South Viet Nam as well as the bitter war against the Communist Viet Cong.

He has promised to return in two to three weeks. Rumors that he plans to resign have been denied.

"The ambassador is in top shape, the crisis has not destroyed his nerves or his stamina," a close associate said of the 63-year-old diplomat. "To use an old-fashioned word, he is a patriot. He could well retire on his laurels. But he considers it his duty to serve here as long as he can and is useful."

To eliminate any appearance of a crisis trip, Lodge plans to stop in Rome on the way to Washington and may see Pope Paul VI. Then he expects to spend a few days around Boston, his home area. He is due in Washington May 7 or 8.

U.S. officials are firm — "No crisis decisions will result from his trip. It will be a general, important review and perhaps some new policy decisions. But this is no crisis trip."
